ATLANTA (UPI) — Four armed convicts held 23 persons hostage in the administration building of Atlanta's fortress-like Federal Penitentiary Tuesday after an escape attempt failed.

The convicts demanded an audience with Atlanta Journal reporter William B. Williams to air their grievances, but did not state specifically what the grievances were.

Officials said the attempted escape from the maximum security institution, one of three such federal prisons in the nation, started about 8:30 a.m. EDT. At 4:15 p.m. prison authorities reported:

"The situation inside the Atlanta Penitentiary remains essentially the same... two female hostages who became ill have been released by the inmates. There are still 18 male employes and five female employes being held hostage. "None has been harmed."

Among the hostages was Associate Warden J.W. Land.

The rebellious inmates were identified as Ivan Daniel Neighbors, 29, serving 120 years for kidnaping and murder on a government reservation; Robert W. Gorman, serving 30 years for bank robbery; Ralph M. Lepis-

Hepatitis Endangers Blaiberg

By The Associated Press

A liver ailment has stricken the world's longest surviving heart transplant patient and his chief surgeon left London for Cape Town Tuesday saying "I am very worried."

Dr. Philip Blaiberg, 59, who received a new heart Jan. 2 and has been living at home, developed the ailment described as hepatitis while undergoing routine tests in Groote Schuur Hospital in Cape Town for most of the past two weeks.

A bulletin issued Tuesday night by the hospital said:

"Dr. Blaiberg's condition still gives cause for concern. The liver disfunction from which he is suffering has not improved. Steps are being taken to combat this complication."

Blaiberg was given emergency treatment.

House Panel Rejects LBJ Gun Control Bid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A congressional committee, in a tie vote, refused Tuesday to approve a new administration request for tighter gun controls. President Johnson said he hoped the committee "will promptly reconsider this shocking blow to the safety of every citizen."

The action came amid new demands for more firearms controls triggered by the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. Congressmen urged citizens groups to put pressure on Congress and three members of the House of Representatives joined pickets at the local headquarters of the National Rifle Association.

Although lawmakers are beginning to receive some mail backing the new proposals, the flood of letters sponsors had hoped for has not materialized.

The House Judiciary Committee refused to approve Johnson's request for a mail order ban on all firearms and interstate shipments of ammunition to private citizens. But Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., predicted the

Street Battles Erupt in 6 French Cities

PARIS (AP)—Students, workers and police battled in six French cities Tuesday night as violence erupted anew across crisis-ridden France after claiming the life of a 24-year-old worker earlier in the day.

Strikers from the big Peugeot auto factory in Sochaux, southern Alsace, fought a pitched battle with police from just after dawn until well into the night with infrequent truces. Union officials and other authorities tried to halt hostilities.

Pierre Beylot, a militant striker, was shot dead at the height of the fighting this morning; 67 others were injured.

In Paris, groups of students ranged wide over the capital fighting short, sharp scuffles with police. Students hurled paving stones and police replied with barrages of tear gas and concussion grenades in a now-familiar pattern.

But massive police intervention before the student demonstrations got under way appeared to have headed off the heavy fighting that took place Monday night in the Latin Quarter.

Students and workers fought police also in St. Nazaire, Lyon, Nantes and Toulouse but the violence there was not on the same level as in Sochaux and Paris.

In the capital the students had called for a mass demonstration at the east station against "police repression" which they said had caused the death of Beylot and a 17-year-old high school student near Paris Monday.

Police moved in ahead of the students to occupy the square in front of the station. Numerous arrests were made but the police move kept the students from massing until they had moved part way across Paris to the Place Pigalle, scuffling with police all along the way.

Other fights were going on be-

Rockets Hit Tan Son Nhut

S&S Vietnam Bureau

SAIGON—Ten 122mm rockets landed on and around Tan Son Nhut AB early Wednesday, leaving four dead and 26 wounded.

Two of the wounded were Americans.

A U.S. spokesman said the rounds landed at 3:30 a.m. and were fired from northwest of the base.

Damage reports listed three houses destroyed by the Communist barrage.

No further details were immediately available.

Soldiers Rushed To Saigon After Heaviest Attack

SAIGON (AP)—Fresh government troops were rushed into Saigon Tuesday to reinforce the capital's defenses, South Vietnamese military headquarters announced.

The troop move followed an unprecedented daylight rocket bombardment Tuesday that wreaked heavy civilian casualties and destruction on the capital.

Thirty-six-foot long rockets cracked into the city during the start of the morning rush hour. The missile exploded among major government buildings and knocked out most telecommunications with the rest of the world.

Nineteen Vietnamese civilians were reported killed and 116 wounded, the largest casualty toll since the Viet Cong began their bombardment of the capital 38 days ago.

Military spokesmen also reported that the barrage of 30 rockets destroyed or damaged 10 houses and two other buildings. Two enemy firing sites were located six miles east and east-northeast of the center of the capital, an area where numerous American military installations are located. But it is also an area of broken terrain, small canals and river tributaries that are troublesome to patrol with 100 per cent effectiveness.

The rockets appeared to be fused in such a way as to momentarily delay their detonation, allowing them to penetrate deep into their targets before bursting. Each of the rockets carried a warhead loaded with 14½ pounds of TNT.

Shortly after the deadly barrage, American troops from the 11th Armored Cav. Regt., began a sweep of the area and at one site found five 122mm rockets, aiming stakes and some miscellaneous rocket accessories.

Operation Ends; 1,129 Reds Slain

SAIGON (S&S) — U.S. infantrymen killed 1,129 enemy in a six-month operation that ended Monday in Quang Ngai Province, the U.S. Command said.

Operation Muscatine, which centered in an area 11 miles north of Quang Ngai City, began Dec. 19 1967. Elements of the 11th Light Inf. Brigade, Americal Div., conducted the sweep aimed at driving the enemy from the coastal plain between the provincial capital and Chu Lai.

U.S. losses were 86 killed and 501 wounded.

SAIGON (UPI) — A pistol-packing Viet Cong woman and two male companions played cat and mouse with a full company of National Policemen in a rubble block of buildings on the southern edge of Cholon for the second day Tuesday.

Nobody appeared particularly distressed about it, however. Returning residents were calmly clearing the debris from their homes less than a half a block

Navy Pilots Blast Bridge

SAIGON — U.S. Navy pilots finished destroying a highway bridge four miles south of the 19th parallel during the northernmost strike in North Vietnam Monday.

Air Wing 19 pilots used 500-pound bombs to blast away the remaining portions of a bridge 21 miles northwest of Vinh. On another strike, four 50-foot supply boats were sunk 12 miles northwest of the city by Navy pilots.

Air Force pilots again struck at Communist surface-to-air missile sites farther south. One SAM and an accompanying support van were destroyed.

from the sporadic fight and at least one policeman brought along his girlfriend to watch the show.

The three are believed to be the only survivors from the Viet Cong forces that entered the populous Chinese district 11 days ago. Since early Monday morning, they have shot their way out of two encounters with police, then hid in the heavy rubble of the area.

The police now have them cornered in a hotel that was

Reds Down 3 Aircraft

SAIGON — Three combat support aircraft were reported shot down in South Vietnam, the U.S. command said Tuesday.

An aerial observer O1 "Bird-dog" crashed and burned six miles northeast of Con Thien, after being hit by enemy ground fire. The pilot was killed.

One of the U.S. Army's new Huey Cobra gunship helicopters was brought down near Can Tho in the Mekong Delta, heavily damaged by enemy ground fire. Neither of the crewmen were injured.

A resupply chopper was downed near Quan Loi, 60 miles North of Saigon with minor damage to the aircraft and one crewman injured.

Westy Sees Need For More Troops

MANILA (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland, former commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, urged Tuesday more American troops for the Vietnam war.

Westmoreland called for an additional troop buildup of 15,000 men to support the present 535,000 U.S. fighting men now on the war front.

The four-star general, said however, the United States can reduce its level of commitments, possibly in troops in 18 months "if South Vietnam can bear a greater load of the fighting."

Westmoreland expressed his views to newsmen after calling on Defense Secretary Ernest S. Mata of the Philippines.

He said the enemy had lost 12,000 men so far in 1968 "which is twice as many as the enemy had lost in 1967."

Later, Westmoreland, with his wife, had a private dinner with President and Mrs. Ferdinand E. Marcos at the Malacanang Palace on the eve of the Philippine independence day celebration.

Westmoreland is en route home to assume the post of army chief of staff.

Cambodia-Freed GIs Return to Viet

BANGKOK (AP) — Two American Army soldiers, captured a month ago in Cambodian waters, flew from Phnom Penh to Bangkok Tuesday en route to Saigon and a return to duty.

The two soldiers are Spec. 4 Ronald S. Lehrman, 21, of Granite, Okla., and Pfc. Jerry A. Tester of Boone, N.C.

Both men belong to the 560th Military Police Co. at Vung Tau, South Vietnam. They were guarding a barge being towed by a Philippine tug when it strayed off course and was captured May 20 by the Cambodian navy.

The two men, accompanied by the Australian vice consul in Phnom Penh, Neil Manton, flew to Bangkok aboard a scheduled Air Vietnam jet liner.

They were met at the steps of the aircraft by a group of Army officers from the U.S. Military Assistance Command Thailand and whisked to the other end of the runway by official car.

They boarded a twin-engine Army Cessna for the flight to Saigon.

They were given no opportunity to talk to newsmen. Both of them were bare headed and pale, but seemed to be in good spirits.

Asked how he was treated by the Cambodians, Lehrman grinned and said: "Just fine."

Manton, who officially handed over the two Americans, told newsmen at the plane side the two Americans had been imprisoned at the Phnom Penh naval headquarters.

The Cambodian government told the Australian Embassy Monday that the two men would be released as a mark of respect to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy who was widely respected in Cambodia.

Jet Noise Curbs Passed in House; SST Not Affected

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House voted Monday to put controls on jet noise and sonic booms. But it refused to outlaw shock-producing overland flights of the new supersonic transport SST now under construction.

On a 312 to 0 roll call, it passed and sent to the Senate legislation directing the federal aviation administrator to set and enforce standards for aircraft noise abatement.

tween police and students closer down toward the Seine River and on the other side of it along the Boulevard St. Michel.

In the Latin Quarter riot police fought their way all the way up the Boulevard St. Michael, launching volleys of tear gas and concussion grenades and receiving barrages of paving stone and other missiles in return.

Across the river at the St. Lazare Station, other student groups numbering from two to three thousand, fought brief battles with riot police trying to channel them back across the river. There were a number of injured among demonstrators and the police.

At the Place de l'odenon, students scrambled up on roofs and hurled broken tiles down on gendarmes.

At several points, students piled up wooden panels intended for electoral campaign posters and set them afire in the middle of a street. The campaign for the June 23-30 legislative elections began Monday.

Westy Due To Visit Japan

TOKYO (S&S) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland is scheduled to arrive in Japan Tuesday for a two-day visit en route to his new post in the United States as U.S. Army chief of staff, the U.S. Embassy here announced Wednesday.

Westmoreland left Saigon Tuesday for Manila after four years as commander of U.S. Forces in Vietnam.

He was to leave Manila Wednesday night aboard the SS President Wilson.

During his stay in Japan, Westmoreland will call on Japanese officials and attend a Foreign Correspondents Club function in his honor.

House OKs Hike In S. Korea Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Tuesday approved President Johnson's request for $100 million for additional military assistance to South Korea.

Although the exact shopping list of military hardware desired by South Korea was not specifically spelled out in the legislation, Seoul officials have stated publicly they want to purchase Phantom F4 jets to offset the Soviet-made MIG 21S flown by North Korea.

Johnson requested the extra funds to help South Korea build up its military forces following the abortive attempt to assassinate South Korean President Chung Hee Park last January.

24 Pacific Stars & Stripes Thursday, June 13, 1968

An amendment by Rep. Lester L. Wolff, D-N.Y., to bar overland supersonic flights with their continuous shock wave was rejected on a voice vote after the bill's sponsors said the measure as drafted provided authority to preclude such flights if the boom problem could not be solved.

The measure, criticized by Wolff and others as not going far enough, was viewed by some as so restrictive that air safety might be jeopardized.

Rep. Delbert Latta, R-Ohio, said airline pilots tell him they are seriously concerned about noise abatement flight rules already in effect at some big city airports.

Big city lawmakers cited complaints about the plight of constituents living under takeoff and approach patterns near jet airports. Rep. Roman Pucinski, D-Ill., said more than 20 million Americans—about 3 million of them in the Chicago area—“have been seriously affected by the advent of the jet age.”

Rep. John W. Wydler, R-N.Y., said persons living under flight paths to and from Kennedy and Laguardia airports have suffered disruption not only of their outdoor activities, classroom work and church services but also their sleep and “all normal activities.”

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., recalled that a fast flying military plane recently shattered 200 windows at the Air Force Academy, with resulting injury to a dozen persons.

The prospect of general commercial supersonic air service, Celler told the House, “strikes terror to our hearts.”

cy treatment Monday night and Tuesday.

Dr. Christiaan N. Barnard, who headed the transplant team, at first told reporters in London that Blaiberg's condition was not critical, adding: “But I am disappointed that this has happened. I have not given up hope.”

Barnard said Blaiberg was suffering from hepatitis, a liver infection often referred to as jaundice. But later, before boarding a plane for home, he expressed concern. It was not known whether he had later word from the hospital.

“This is dreadful news,” Barnard told airport reporters. “So far as we were concerned he had made a complete recovery, but the hospital said he has developed jaundice and some liver infection. It could be serious. I am very worried.”

Earlier, a Grootte Schuur bulletin said Blaiberg suffered a setback because of liver complications. It did not describe

Balloon Drifts Toward Russ

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon reported a huge weather balloon, with a diameter equal to the length of a football field, broke loose in Alaska Monday and was drifting toward the Soviet Union.

The unmanned weather-sampling balloon went aloft from Eielson Air Force Base and was drifting at nearly 50 miles an hour along a course paralleling the Aleutian Island chain at a height of about 25 miles. A destruct mechanism failed to operate, the Pentagon said.

The course would carry the balloon southwesterly toward the Soviet Union. A Pentagon spokesman said the information about the balloon was being made public to explain any weird sightings.

copo, 25, serving 20 years for bank robbery, and Frederick Freeman Leister Jr., 34, serving 15 years for bank robbery with assault.

Officials said the convicts had two pistols and about 50 rounds of ammunition. It was not immediately learned how they got the weapons.

Prison officials kept in touch with the convicts by means of an intercom telephone. Warden Olin G. Blackwell warned reporter Williams that he, too, might be taken hostage if he went ahead with the meeting.

Williams said he would still meet the prisoners.

“I'm scared,” Williams admitted, “but I have no choice.”

Williams recently wrote several articles concerning a suit racketeer Mickey Cohen brought against the federal prison system after being maimed during a beating at the hands of other convicts in the Atlanta Penitentiary.

It was apparently because of these and other such articles that the prisoners demanded to see Williams. “I've always aired their grievances,” said Williams.

Shortly before Williams arrived at the prison, the convicts threatened to open fire on the crowd outside the prison unless they were served coffee and sandwiches.

The convicts had a good view of the outside world from their second story post at the main entrance of the prison.

About 50 guards, FBI agents and city police were deployed around the main entrance of the big prison, which spreads out over 27 acres and houses 2,209 men.

Most of the officers were armed with rifles, which they kept trained on the administration building while hiding behind parked cars and trees.

committee would reverse itself at its next meeting next week. The vote was 16 to 16.

One committee member, Rep. William McCulloch, R-Ohio, indicated chances of reversal were good. He said he voted against the bill because it was only received Monday and members did not have time to study it.

Shortly after the committee vote, the White House issued a statement in which Johnson said the tie vote was “a bitter disappointment to all Americans and to the President.”

Meanwhile, the same bill was sent to two Senate committees with instructions from Democratic leader Mike Mansfield—not a supporter of the measure—for prompt hearings so it could be ready “for debate and disposal before the end of the session.”

In view of opposition from such influential figures as Mansfield and Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, prospects for new gun controls this year appeared dim.

In the anticrime bill approved by Congress last week, all mail order sales of handguns would be banned, but Johnson said the same prohibitions should be applied to shotguns and rifles.
